Weather

Overcast and cold but rather fine weather. The maximum temperature yesterday was 54.3 and the minimum 46.0, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 57.2 and 45.1.

OPEN DOOR OUR POLICY SAYS FRENCH AMBASSADOR

Is Willing To Restore China Lands If Others Will Follow

STRAIN RELIEVED

Sees Great Benefit From Washington Conference To All Nations

"France has no ambitions in China other than to see her trade prosper and the Open Door policy firmly established."

Count de Fleurian, the newly appointed French Minister to China and former member of the French delegation in the League of Nations Council, yesterday outlined in an interview with a CHINA PRESS reporter, the attitude of the French people towards China and the Far East. He was emphatic in his denial that the French sought any new concessions of trade or territory and said, "The French, like the Americans, have no desire to hold any Chinese territory and want only the good will of the Chinese, with fair treatment here."

The Minister pointed to the French possession in China as an example of his statement and said that his government would gladly concede this territory to China, in the event that the other nations holding territory in Asia would do likewise.

"China has no need to fear that she is without friends—none of the European nations or America would stand idle and see her country torn with an unnecessary war.

"Naturally I cannot say a great deal regarding the situation in the Orient and particularly in China because I am a stranger here, but I am very much interested in the Conference in Washington.

"The Conference will lay the foundation for better understanding between the larger nations of the world and I believe it will show good results—eventually.

TO RELIEVE STRAIN

"I cannot see any hope, however, of any immediate concrete result from the Conference; but I think that the conference will be very valuable in relieving the strain that has been evident between several of the larger powers.

"The question of disarmament is one that, to my mind, will take a very long time to settle. It must be remembered that the different military systems in effect in Europe and America will take some time to readjust to a smaller scale."

Count de Fleurian compared the Washington Conference with a higher development of the League of Nations and stated that when he was a member of the French Delegation in the League of Nations Council, the same problems were under discussion that are now being threshed out in the American capital.

"From the cabled reports of the Conference, it would seem that great progress is being made, but I am afraid that the public will be made to expect too much at one time. It is a very difficult thing to correct the evil that was done during the War."

SLOW TO READJUST

The commercial boom of 1919 was responsible, to a large degree, the Count said, for the present depression in world trade. He maintained that it would take some time to readjust the markets of the world.

"During 1919," Count de Fleurian said, "a commercial money craze seemed to sweep Europe and America and we are all paying for it now."

The Minister spoke of the present situation in Indo-China, which he said was somewhat troublesome.

"The French authorities in Indo-China find it very difficult at times to keep their boundary clear. I was told that there were bands of bandit soldiers frequently crossing the frontier.

"We do not have a great many troops in that territory and do not want to send any more, as it would appear that the French were trying to acquire more territory in the South."

Yesterday the new minister was taken for a tour of the city, inspecting the different government offices, with a delegation of French residents. He will pro-

ENVOY TELLS JAPAN U.S. IS SINCERE IN CUT IN NAVY

Richest Country Can Put Greatest Fleet To Sea If It Sees Need

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Tokio, November 24.—"There is nothing unfair in Secretary Hughes' proposals as coming from the United States," declared Charles Beecher Warren, Ambassador of the United States to Japan, addressing the American Association banquet at Yokohama tonight.

"If America continues to build ships it probably will mean remaining in the same relative proportions, except that the richer nation will have the advantage."

Ambassador Warren made clear by inference that the United States is now the richest nation in the world and therefore is giving up a substantial advantage in proposing limitation of armaments.

He said that the limitation of armaments will not prevent all wars, for "the ability to conduct war depends on men, money and materials. When they limit armaments, the nations simply limit one's facilities for war.

"The Washington Conference aims at something deeper, an understanding that will make war impossible in the future."

Ambassador Warren's statement of the fairness of the position of the United States in the Washington Conference comes at an opportune time when the Japanese press with only a few exceptions is waging a spirited campaign in support of the contention of Japan that she must have 70 percent naval ratio.

The Japanese correspondents' cables from Washington are reflecting bitterness toward Secretary Hughes for his refusal to consider the requested increase in the ratio from 60 to 70 percent.

30 MILLIONS LOAN SIGNED BY PEKING IS NOW RUMOR

Chicago Banker Abbott Is Said To Have Gained Point In Peking

TERMS SET FORTH

Issued At 86 With Yearly Charge Of 12 Percent Now Understanding

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 24.—Rumor which, my investigation shows, has grounds so nearly approaching substantiation that I am no longer justified in withholding publication, says that the Finance Ministry on Tuesday signed a loan with Mr. John J. Abbott, and the American group of the Consortium, for $30,000,000.

The loan is to be issued at 86, a discount of 14 percent, and bear interest at the rate of 12 percent a year. Its term is to be 20 years and the security will be the Wine and Tobacco Tax revenues.

The present secrecy is said to be due to the Peking Government's dread of popular hostility, especially on the part of the Chinese Bankers' Association, which has manifested its opposition to the signing away of revenues involved.

But the bankers' power of opposition is said to have been weaken by the flurry of the past week, which in turn, however, is seen by some to be a plot to force the Chinese Government into signing.

Supervision of the collection of this tax by Americans also is stated to have been a vital element in the conclusion of the loan but this is vehemently denied by all parties that might be assumed to be interested. Nevertheless there are many indications such as the agreement already brought near in which the Chinese Government was willing to give Mr. Abbott these terms, but at which the officials balked when they discovered he intended to turn over the collecting powers to the Consortium.

GOLDEN STATE IN FAST RUN ON LAST TRIP HOME

The Pacific Mail liner Golden State on her last trip to San Francisco smashed all but one record for quick passage between Honolulu and the California port, according to San Francisco papers just received.

The trip from Honolulu was made in four days seventeen hours. The fastest time ever made on the run was effected several years ago by the steamer Great Northern, famous for her speed, in slightly over four days even.

The Golden State, with Captain George Yardley in command, on her last trip carried to the States, among other prominent passengers, Mr. W. Cameron Forbes, ex-Governor General of the Philippines; Mr. Edward Bell, Charge d'Affaires at Tokio; Judge F. Fisher, of the Supreme Court at Manila, and Mr. J. E. Baker, of Red Cross famine relief work in China.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Senate today passed the Tax Revision Bill which is considered to be probably a temporary measure. LOCAL SHRINERS MINSTREL SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

The Nomads of the Mystic Shrine wandered last night through a new land of blackface comedy, song and jazz at the opening of the Shriners' Minstrel Show at the Olympic Theater. The entire show was a well constructed entertainment, equal in the high spots to the old-time American minstrel shows.

The outstanding hit of the evening was the dancing and singing of Mr. A. Glemby. He gave the keynote of life and joy to both the minstrels and the audience.

Formalities of Minstreldom, the usual arguments between the interlocutor and the end men were well carried off, with Mr. J. A. Raynes at the seat of judgment.

"The Home Again Blues," one of the songs given during the evening would give a good description of the feelings of any genuine Southerner who heard Mr. H. W. Brooke sing "Old Black Joe" in the setting of an old time plantation in the second part.

The cotton pickers, Mammy and the banjo were all there and with bells on. Plantations, according to the Shriners last night were places where the cotton pickers gathered around their cotton baskets after the day's work, sang, ate roast possun and chased away the glooms of the day.

During an intermission Mr. Fred W. Van Buskirk, the president of the Nomad Oasis, gave a short history of the Shrine organisation and in addition to referring to it as the playground of Masonry, spoke of the work that was being done to help the "other fellow." An instance of the result of the Shrine entertainments was given in the announcement that the proceeds of the Minstrel Shows for the three days ending Saturday would go toward a scholarship for an American boy or girl in China.

The show is to be repeated tonight and tomorrow night and is heartily to be recommended to all who like lively and well arranged entertainment.

Must Meet British Objection To Turk Treaty Says France

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 24.—While generally approving the Kemalist Treaty the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Senate made some important reservations. The Committee asks what were the precise duties and instructions of M. Franklin Bouillon, and if he had exceeded them.

Ex-Premier Ribot pointed out that the Treaty caused Britain to raise serious objections, which ought to be met, and added that all the Committee men were asking what would be the fate of the minorities which had practically been abandoned after being allies of France.

The idea dominating the debate was the importance of defending French interests without breaking the war-time solidarity of the Allies.

Americans Give Thanks For Manifold Blessings

Americans of Shanghai united yesterday in the observance of the national holiday of Thanksgiving. A football game between a team representing the American school and the Shanghai light eleven was the opening event of the day which closed with a number of colorful dinner and dancing parties, prominent among which were the affairs given at the Astor House and at the Carlton Cafe.

The outstanding feature of the day was the special service held at Union Church late yesterday afternoon. This was in the nature of an official observance of the holiday.

Maj. Gen. William M. Black of the consultative board of engineers, here to review the work of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board, presided at this service. Following the opening hymn and prelude he delivered a brief and eloquent address, the keynote of which was that the great thing for which Americans should give thanks today was for the fact that they are Americans.

General Black sketched the early beginnings of the movement for democracy among peoples beginning with the long struggle that developed in the thirteenth century at Runnymede. From that point he outlined the manner in which the great American principle of government of the people, by the people and for the people grew into realisation.

TELLS OF EARLY STRUGGLE

He told how the various colonies in the New World were founded, pointing out that the then far separated settlements were built up by peoples of differing beliefs. These diverse peoples, he explained, were brought together by a single common danger and even after they had united to carry through the Revolution, they separated into various groups in which there was no cohesion.

Continuing, he pointed out that even after the constitution was drafted, unity was not effected, because the Northern people and the Southern people were not one. He reviewed the struggle between the North and South and told of the great railway expansion that followed the civil war, when improvement of means of transportation brought about a better and more intimate acquaintance of sections remote from each other.

Continuing, he said that perhaps for the first time all parts of the nation came into close touch in the Spanish-American war, and in some detail he told the effects of the contact between men of remote states with each other in the military camps.

IN SILENT PRAYER

Following the introductory remarks of General Black an incident unique in so large a gathering, as every seat in the Union Church was filled, was observed in accordance with the suggestion which had been made by General Black. For one minute, the big audience, numbering probably 250 persons sat in silent thought.

Chairman Leon Friedman, of the auto show entertainment committee, continues to add to the already large list of entertainers he has engaged for the week's festivities at Verdun Gardens. Yesterday he "signed" Mrs. H. W. Allison, who will sing Sunday evening, and Gracie Haimovitch, the captivating little dancer who will appear Monday evening. On the same evening Mr. F. G. Renwick will appear in a humorous recitation entitled "My Motor Car." On Tuesday evening Chinese entertainments will be provided, and on Wednesday night there will be a "Dance of The Nations." On this occasion Carmencita will dance in her Spanish costumes.

CONFERENCE IS NEAR CRISIS; GROUND CLEAR FOR WORK OR FAILURE

China Problem Now Demands That They Get Down To Concrete Expressions Of Their Aims And Cease Lofty Generalities Of Willingness To Solve Difficulties On Reciprocal Basis

REACTION OF SLOTH NOW HAS SET IN

Reluctance To Tackle The Questions Becomes Manifest—Land Armaments Also Looming As Adverse Factor To Accomplishment Of Good

Washington, Nov. 23.—The critical week of the Conference is about to open.

It is now up to the delegates, in the opinion of most observers, to show whether they mean to accomplish something concrete with regard to the China problem, or whether they purpose a declaration couched in the familiar lofty generalities and let matters rest unsettled as heretofore.

The first stage of the Conference ended with the declaration of the powers on Saturday, which meant nothing. The next move presumably will be China's, and it is expected that she will seek to force the hands of the other nations by inquiring whether they are willing to apply the general principles which they so enthusiastically applauded.

It is believed that China will submit concrete applications of these principles, whereupon the powers will be obliged, in poker parlance, to come to a "showdown."

PENDULUM REVERSES

Present feeling is that there has been a reaction from the first rosy blush of promise, since it is felt that the statements of Saturday indicate that there is a reluctance to tackle the real problems of the China issue, and a preference for repeating the formulas of the past.

While the Far Eastern aspect of the Conference has grown gloomier, the armament issue offers good prospects of a settlement. The views of three powers remain identical, for it is not thought difficult to reach an agreement if the French armament stand does not alienate the British and obscure the issues of the whole Conference by injecting European problems.

It is possible that if the French, with Belgian support, refuse any reduction of land armament the British may refuse naval reduction on the grounds that it is impossible for them to weaken themselves before the threat of French hegemony in Europe.

There are already indications of French and British friction having been transferred from Paris to Washington, Balfour and Briand at the second session having a brush which was eloquent.

Briand's speech is awaited anxiously as signifying the crossroads of the Conference—whether attention is to turn toward Europe or whether it is to be confined to the Pacific.

TO ABOLISH LIKIN

Washington, Nov. 24.—It is understood that the Far Eastern Committee has decided that likin must be abolished. The new arrangement under the resolution drafted and presented to the Committee on Monday by Mr. Elihu Root (which was adopted) implies the acceptance of a financial consortium by China, and also the pooling of existing railway concessions as far as the operations are concerned in order to prevent discrimination between the trades of the different nationalities.

Dr. Wellington Koo has presented a plan for the restoration of Chinese tariff autonomy in three stages. A special subcommittee is considering the plan, which Mr. Alfred Sze explained was a 12½ percent duty from January 1 next, followed by a period in which China would be permitted to fix her own rates and finally achieving complete autonomy.

CUSTOMS ARE DISCUSSED

Washington, Nov. 24.—A communique states that the Far Eastern Committee (at which Mr. Hanihara was present for the first time) yesterday discussed the Chinese Customs.

Dr. Wellington Koo made a statement in which he emphasised that China did not desire to interfere with the present administration of the Maritime Customs or the devotion of the proceeds to the liquidation of foreign loans, to which they were pledged.

Dr. Koo then proceeded to give a brief account of the origin of the Chinese Treaty on Tariffs, and, in concluding, declared that, as prices mounted, the Treaty Powers had not requested a revision of tariffs and China had not asked for a revision, as the revenue collected from other sources was inadequate to meet its requirements.

OPIUM BUSINESS IS FLOURISHING UP THE YANGTSZE

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Ichang, Nov. 19.—The opium business is apparently still flourishing in this district, and it seems to be impossible to put a stop to smuggling on steamers plying between here and Chungking. About ten days ago the Alice Dollar arrived from Chungking, and a search revealed the presence of about four tons of the drug. The seizure was immediately destroyed by the Customs authorities, as it is considered too risky to keep it here for any length of time with so many soldiers in the place.

A large bonfire was made on the foreshore an Armistice Day, and soldiers were stationed all around, in order to keep the people away from the place. The fumes were terrible and made life unpleasant for some time.

Reuter correspondent was in a very small village of about 70 or 80 houses the other day, and elicited the following information, which goes to prove that smoking of the drug is being carried on with the connivance of officials. There are three opium dens in that small village, which are only frequented by farmers, and each one pays the sum of 5,000 cash per month to an official secretary as "lamp money," which shows that the official class is not only concerned in the smuggling of the drug, but also in its consumption.

Here are the prices of prepared opium in that village; Shinan and Patung (Hupeh) opium $2.12 per oz.; Szechuen opium $2.70 per oz.; and Yunnan opium $4.70 per oz., and even at these stiff prices business in the opium dens is reported to be quite good.

The Robert Dollar II is reported to have been very badly damaged on the way up to Chungking. During her last trip she hit a rock and suffered some damage, but the Anlan came to her assistance, and after she had been pumped dry, the hole was thoroughly cemented, and she completed her trip. Now she has either had another butt against the rocks, or the former hole has re-opened.

There is no really definite news of the war that is still proceeding between Szechuen and Hupeh, but there is authentic information that some of the Szechuen troops have extended their field of operations in the direction of Shinan. They have come in contact with the 13th Division of the Hupeh troops, and the latter have suffered very severely.

Great activity is being shown here, for there is a great number of troops on the frontiers, and these have to be supplied with food and ammunition. The military authorities made it known that they were going to seize the steamer Hungfok, but they were told by a French naval officer that such action would mean a declaration of war against France, so they wisely refrained.

The water is now very low, and communication with Szechuen cannot be maintained much longer.

day's discussion on land disarmament, M. Briand opposed a detailed discussion, because France was faced with indisputable dangers and could not reduce her army unless the other Powers supported her. He added that without such guarantees the limitation of land armaments was impossible.

PRESIDENT GRATIFED
(U. S. Navy Radio Through Reuter)

Washington, Nov. 22.—President Harding keeps in close touch with the Armament and Far Eastern Conference. Secretary of State Hughes sees the President before and after each session. Senator Lodge today said that the President was gratified with the progress thus far.

FRENCH EXPERTS TO GO
(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 23.—M. Berthelot and General Buat as well as M. Cheysson, the financial expert, will return to France with M. Briand on board the Paris. The naval experts, headed by Admiral de Bon, will remain at Washington, as the naval disarmament question has not yet been settled. M. Briand will leave Washington tomorrow and will sail on Friday for France.

U. S. TROOPS TO STAY
(French Wireless through Reuter)

Washington, Nov. 23.—In the course of an interview, M. Briand declared that the American troops would remain on the Rhine to force militarist Germany to surrender.

SYMPATHY FOR JAPAN
(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 21.—Japan is receiving increasing sympathy from the German press, in its speculation on the outcome of the Washington Conference. Editors suggest that if the Conference isolates Japan, a combination of Teutons, Slavs and yellow races is possible.

SLOW PROGRESS
(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 23.—The armament and Far Eastern negotiations are proceeding more slowly as the delegates begin the discussion of details.

The chief task before the Chinese subcommittee is the expected revision of the customs restrictions which will prevent China from imposing more than a five percent imports tax. The Chinese contend that this deprives China of revenue and prevents national development. There are indications that the delegations sympathise with China's viewpoint although they have not yet fully considered the difficulties and problems involved.

The Americans predict that the conference will be for a clearing up of the Far Eastern tangle. It was said concerning the question of Manchuria and Shantung that concession treaties will soon be reached by the committee on deliberations.

The Big Three naval authorities are continuing the thrashing out of details in technical discussions incomprehensible to the general public. It was said that there was every reason to hope that an agreement closely paralleling the American plan would be reached soon. The delegates expect that negotiations will be attempted toward a Japanese-American agreement on Pacific fortifications.

The basis of discussion most frequently suggested is that both agree to permit existing fortifications in the Philippines Guam, Formosa, Loochoos and possibly Hawaii and the Bonin Islands and forego fortifications in other sections.

The naval question now wholly lies in the hands of experts with reports of a great deal of wrangling on details although accepting the American proposal in principle. Japan is insisting on a 70 percent ratio, thus including the Mutsu and probably the Aoi, or other cruisers.

It is reported that Japan intends to stand pat on this demand, but it is believed that this is only for effect, and that she will yield if America is firm.

The question of submarines is still in dispute. The aftermath of the Briand speech shows that it had little effect other than to irritate the British and strengthen the undercurrent of British-French friction.

REPORTED DECISION
(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 23.—The united conclusions, which the Conference has reached on the Chinese problem, form three distinct solutions, namely.

(1) The Conference has decided not to bring into question the previous rights acquired by the Powers in China, especially as concerns the preponderating situation of Japan in the neighboring territory of Korea.

(2) As for the previous rights of a more contestable nature, such as those of Japan in Shantung, the Conference will probably be satisfied with recommending friendly arrangements.

(3) In future the Conference forbids the Powers to extend their spheres of influence, whilst abstaining from encouraging any action constituting a menace to the security of the United States. This reservation may be intended to reassure Japan if she should fear the establishment of foreign enterprises in the neighborhood of the districts already placed under her influence, for example South Manchuria.

The Far Eastern Commission has commenced the detailed discussion on the subject of the territorial and political integrity of China. The Temps understands that M. Sarraut has asked the Chinese delegates to explain fully their claims and the guaranteed which they offer in exchange for the sacrifices which the interested Powers are ready to make, especially for extraterritorial rights.

This morning the plenipotentiary committee of the five Powers is to consider the question of land disarmament. Telegrams from Washington emphasise that the statement made by M. Briand, which shows that in face of the present situation a reduction of forces is impossible, is regarded in many circles as definitely settling the question of land armament. However, there remains the question of land fortifications which may hold the first place in the course of the discussion of the next questions of the Far East.

With regard to naval armaments the American newspapers have asserted that France will demand a tonnage of large naval unites of modern pattern, equal to that of Japan, namely 500,000 tons, and as many submarines as Britain.

The Temps declares in this connection that the French delegation will endeavor to have accepted as the basis of limitation of her fleet her program for 1912, which would have been completed but for the war. She will at least demand that the total of her naval force shall be established on the basis of her position in 1914.

France is ready to make considerable concessions in the sense of Mr. Hughes plan for she desires mainly to have a defensive fleet. She will request liberty to employ for submarines and light cruisers the tonnage which is accorded her.

The Italian delegate on the committee of the nine Powers explained that submarines were necessary for the defence of Italy.—

BRITISH APPROVE

London, Nov. 23.—Unanimous approval of Great Britain's action in ceasing the building of the Super-Hood type of battleship is the most decisive indication of the solid British support for disarmament. Even the naval authorities, armament representatives and political tories are climbing on the bandwagon. Certainly no politicians have the temerity to publicly oppose disarmament, knowing the strength of public feeling.

PROBE FINANCES
(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Conference has accepted the American proposal and has named a special committee to go deeply into a study of China's internal finance and especially the customs and tariff problems. The first step has been to enter into details of the general principles upon which the discussion will hereafter be concentrated.

Official statements have not yet been made but definite progress was today reported toward concrete results in the Chinese problem. Kato seems willing to discuss the question of Manchuria.

The big issue now is whether America will insist upon discussion of the past as well as the future, whether she will accept as legal all past agreements between China and other powers and only give guarantees which will apply to the future. It is understood that most of the powers prefer the status quo as the basis of agreement which is most suitable to China.

Foreign friends are bringing pressure to bear upon the Chinese delegation in order to have them take the aggressive and make concrete demands, forcing the issue immediately and thus testing what the powers are disposed to grant. Otherwise, it is feared, the conference will adjourn after repeating the previous abstract formulae.

NOW ARE CRITICAL

Rome, Nov. 23.—Opinion is veering from approval of the Hughes' plan for limitation of naval armaments to criticism. In some quarters it is said that the plan is technically bad. Others say that it means Anglo-Saxon domination of the world.

FAVOR DEBT COMMISSION
(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 23.—It is learned on good authority that the British Delegation would favor the creation of a commission to administer the Chinese Customs and debt. Britain only desires the same consideration for her interests as is given to other powers.

Britain Replies To Soviet Offer To Assume Debts

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Nov. 18.—The British Government has addressed to Mr. Krassin, the Soviet Representative in London, a note in reply to the Soviet Government's note recognising the pre-war debts. The British note points out that the Russian Government has adopted the right course.

The Commissar of Foreign Affairs of Soviet Russia has sent a reply to the British note, saying the Soviet Government is glad at the willingness of the British Government to co-operate with the Soviet Government in the solution of the question of debts. The note adds that it has been shown in practice that it is impossible to solve this complicated question through the exchange of wireless messages.

It must be solved at the proposed conference. The question of debts is only a part of the mutual problem of rehabilitating Russia and the rest of the world.

The main condition for the solution of this problem is mutual confidence, which can be restored through the abandonment of systematic exclusion of Russia from international deliberations. In conclusion the note points out that the only aim of the Soviet Government is to bring about the economic and industrial co-operation with the rest of the world.

first place the main exhibition building will cause gasps of astonishment because of its size and the tremendous scale on which it has been fitted up. And then will come the exhibits, which in every way measure up to the highest standards attained in homeside shows.

In fact some of the exhibits at this show will outrank anything heretofore attempted in this sort of display. This has been made possible by the roominess of the exhibition building giving the big Shanghai firms a chance to "spread themselves" that could not be purchased for any price in New York or London, for the simple reason that the room is not available. Four of the local firms, the Central Garage, H. S. Honigsberg and Co., China Motors, Ltd., and Hudford Motors, each have more space at this show than is ordinarily allotted to a half dozen exhibitors in New York or London.

CARS MOVED IN IT

Some of the motor cars to be shown at the exhibition were moved in yesterday. China Motors, Ltd., took over practically all of the cars they will show, including models of the Hupmobile, Chandler, Dodge, Cleveland, Standard, and Crossley. Honigsberg and Co. moved in a Cadillac closed car and two of the new Buick fours. Hudford Moters have an Essex and a Hudson on the floor and will move in some more models today. Central Garage will move a dozen cars today from their shops in Hongkong Road and the other exhibitors will fill their booths before nightfall.

Yesterday a test was made of one of the three big engines in the show power plant and the others will get their try out today.

Most of the lanterns that are being used for decorating the dancing pavilion were put in place last night, but more are to be added today and tonight.

THE FIFTH WISE MAN

"I'll wait a while before buying my life insurance," said the first wise man. He had to pay 15 per cent more because the cost had increased.

"Next year will be just as good," said the second wise man. He died six months later.

"I'm in no hurry—I can get insurance any time," said the third wise man. He discovered his error later, when the doctor told him he was uninsurable.

"I'll have more money for insurance in a couple of years," said the fourth wise man. But a reckless chauffeur ran over him, and the day when he can buy insurance has passed.

Now there was a FIFTH man and he bought his Life Insurance from the Asia Life Insurance Company when he had the chance. He isn't worrying any. Neither is his family.

One of the first impressions of a ride in a MILBURN is the remarkable ease of the upholstered seats and the freedom from all jar and motion when the car is moving.

Next you contrast the difference in the quickness with which it picks up speed and gets under way over that of a gas car.

Then you are impressed with the total absence of noise made by the engine. When a ricksha coolie or pedestrian runs in front of you, you marvel at the remarkable control possible in the steering gear and the brakes, which, enables you to avoid any accident.

Finally, when you are told that it costs less to operate than any five passengers car on the market, you are convinced that a

Americans Give Thanks For Manifold Blessings

During this period, not a sound was heard.

Following the singing of a hymn by the whole gathering, Mr. E. S. Cunningham, American Consul-General, read President Harding's proclamation.

The next number on the program was responsive scripture reading which was led by the Rev. F. D. Gamewell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Following this, an eloquent prayer was given by Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott, president of St. John's University.

Mr. R. A. Curry then sang a baritone solo, "A Song of Thanksgiving" following which the hymn, "America, the Beautiful," was given. A Thanksgiving address was then delivered by Dr. Luther Freeman, pastor of the Community Church. At the conclusion of the address, the anthem, "The Vineyard of the Lord," was sung by the gathering, and a selection was given by a double quartet composed of Miss Mungall, Mrs. Vanderburgh, Miss Stewart, Miss Ritter, and Messrs. Dingle, Cameron, Curry, and Perry.

Benediction was invoked by the Rev. G. F. Fitch.

In opening his address Dr. Freeman said that the whole observance of the holiday should be in keeping with the hymn, "Bless the Lord, O, My Soul." He pointed out that if the Pilgrim Fathers, after reaping their first meagre harvest were able to gather in their modest meeting house and give thanks to the Almighty for the blessings vouchsafed, then today a time of prosperity and plenty, all the more should we feel the need of giving thanks.

Doctor Freeman said that he is an unworthy American who today will not bow his head and give thanks for the manifold blessings that have been bestowed upon him. In all the little villages and the larger centers and the great cities of America, in all foreign lands where American consuls are located, and on the high seas, Americans today are giving thanks in accord with ancient custom.

He told a little of the history of the observance of the day, saying that it at times had deteriorated into a day of common sports when the original purpose had been lost sight of, until the leading universities had led the way by barring the holding of their great athletic contests on that day.

Doctor Freeman said that several great things stood for Americans to be thankful for today. The foremost was the great international disarmament conference at Washington, the first serious attempt in the history of the whole world to stop warfare and achieve peace on earth.

It must arouse pride in the hearts of all Americans to think that America had led the way in proposing the reduction of armaments. Continuing, he pointed out that the necessity of big armaments had been proved a fallacy and that big armies and big navies promoted only war.

He looked forward to the time, he said, when the millions expended for military machines designed merely for the destruction of life would be saved to be expended for the upbuilding of industries to promote the social welfare of humankind, and when mothers would know that they were rearing sons, not to be cannon-fodder, but to be upright citizens carrying forward the torch of progress.

He also said that thanks should be given by Americans in China because the Chinese are manifesting a most hopeful spirit and national conciousness.

Doctor Freeman dwelt somewhat on what he called "the American atmosphere," its democratic ideals and the equal-chance-for-all that it affords all comers. Having no favorite classes, no titled aristocracy, no hereditary royalty, it offered equal opportunities for all.

He emphasised that throughout all the great development of the American nation, religion had been a constant and ever present element, pointing out that while such diverse national factors as the Dutch in New York, the Pilgrims in New England, the Catholics in Maryland, the Huguenots and Cavaliers farther south had been brought together to form the country, the great underlying principle that had carried America forward was basically religious. He told something of the growth of religious toleration in America, explaining how this principle had been of slow growth, even in the New World.

In conclusion, Dr. Freeman pointed out that the Thanksgiving holiday essentially was a great American "home-day," when sons and daughters, grand-children and grand-daughters turned their faces toward the home fireside. He drew a picture of happy scenes in America today when children were setting their faces homeward and making their way back to the family hearth which they had not forgot but "lost awhile."

Open Door Our Policy Say French

FRANCE IS WILLING

Washington, Nov. 23.—France today stands on her announced program regarding China, namely, she is willing to quit Kwang chow if the British quit Weihaiwei and Japan Shantung and Port Arthur.

France will not leave Indo-China since she regards that territory as never having belonged to China but to have been obtained from Annam.

Japan stands on the declaration that she will accept China's proposals as a basis of discussion, but is reported to be preparing definite counter proposals. It is said that these will prove satisfactory to both America and Great Britain.

It is understood that President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes are determined to embody whatever settlement is reached on Far Eastern problems not in a treaty but in an agreement, thereby evading the necessity of running the Senate gauntlet as President Wilson did, since an agreement does not require the advice and consent of the Senate. This opens the way for America's partaking in a positive guarantee in the Far Eastern settlement, and joining in a permanent understanding regarding Pacific problems.

It is denied that Secretary of State Hughes had any share in or inspired the Chinese principles.

Discussion of the maintenance of submarines continues to occupy the attention of the conference. It is reported that America will oppose the British desire to reduce submarine tonnage and outlaw the larger types of submarines. The Hearst press are now the only newspapers in the United States opposing the Hughes' disarmament plan.

GREATEST ISSUE BEFORE WORLD ASSERTS BEATTY

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 27.—The possibility of any serious differences arising between Great Britain and the United States over the Washington Conference on limitation of armament was discounted tonight by Admiral Earl Beatty, First Sea Lord of the British Admiralty, speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the Pilgrim Society.

The world will wait and watch with supreme interest the Conference's deliberations, Admiral Beatty said, but nowhere will it be watched with more hope than in England. Surely, he added, there never was a greater issue dependent upon the deliberations of man.

Reverting to the relationship between England and the United States and the part it will play in the Conference, Admiral Beatty said the question was not one of "bolstering up an artificial and man-made alliance" but rather a question of keeping alive and awake the Communion which is right and natural between the two nations.

"Our every interest, our every instinct binds us together," he said. "Just as members of the same clan, when widely separated, lose touch with one another, and with one another's point of view unless efforts are made to maintain touch between them, so I believe absolutely the necessity for the closest intercourse between the United States and Great Britain in every sphere of activity.

"It is not to be expected, indeed it is humanly impossible, that both countries should be in perfect agreement at all times. When differences do arise in international affairs they are called 'incidents' and much can be made of them by those who delight in making mischief and scandal—but if we know one another well enough, and trust one another completely enough, the mischief-maker can strive in vain."

CIVIC LEAGUE CHANGES NAME

The Shanghai Civic League, in meeting Thursday, voted the change of the organisation's name to "The Shanghai Ratepayers' Association."

In moving the resolution the chairman, Mr. A. J. Hughes, spoke at length on the expediency of the ratepayers of the Settlement uniting as an organised body for the protection of their own interests. He urged the need of greater publicity for Municipal affairs and expressed the belief that the change in name would bring about an increase in membership of the association.

There were only two dissenting votes when the resolution was put to the meeting.

Japanese Forts And Trenches To Hold Saghalien

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Nov. 20.—A Habarovsk telegram dated the 15th, states that the Japanese have strongly fortified Marinsk, Decastri and Sofiak in the Saghalien Province on the mainland. Trenches, barbed wire and dug-outs, in which light artillery is concealed, are the means used by the Japanese as a prerequisite for their evacuation into the interior of the Russian Far East.

The inhabitants in the villages are not allowed to leave the villages unless the Russian spies in the employ of the Japanese vouch for them. Denunciations by the spies are causing many arrests of the inhabitants by the Japanese.

ASK CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER THE GERMAN CREDITS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 23.—It is noteworthy that Dr. Wirth in the course of his speech in the Reichstag last evening, said that the question of credits to Germany needed to be bound up in the Washington Conference.

That the latter was bound to consider International treatment of the whole question of debts had recently been the theme of a number of writers, who declare that an Universal Congress to deal with the financial and economic problem is imperative before January 15, 1922, otherwise the declaration of bankruptcy on Germany's part may have irreparable consequences.

It is pointed out that even Libertal French Eeconomists are demanding the strongest military measures in the event of default by Germany and M. Briand's speech at Washington, declaring the impossibility of France disarming, has strengthened the arguments of those who plead that the question of debts should be made not only a Franco-German but a world problem.

Meanwhile the Reparations Commission has returned to Paris from Berlin, and its members are reported to be divided on the subject of measures to compel Germany to meet her obligations.

GERMANY MAY COLLAPSE

London, Nov. 23.—The report of the special committee of the Federation of British Industries on German reparations says that there is a growing opinion in Britain that any attempt to enforce the present reparations scheme would lead to the collapse of Germany and declares that it is impossible to return to prewar trade conditions until the methods of liquidating the war debts of the nations have been settled.

It suggests the transference of obligation between Governments into obligation between individuals by the creation of mortgages on German railways shipping and other industries these securities to be handed over to the Allied Governments who will dispose of them to individuals.

The report also suggests the utilisation of German energies under Allied experts in restoring the railways in Central Europe and Russia, and constructing public works in the undeveloped regions of Africa, South America and Asia.

FEAR REIGN OF TERROR AGAIN ON IN BELFAST

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 23.—Belfast is quiet this morning, but though the police and military are very active in the disturbed areas, the public are extremely apprehensive of fresh outbreaks by gunmen and bombers.

Yesterday's outrages, in which the casualties were ten killed and sixty injured have spready terror and indignation among the citizens, who are demanding stern measures of repression.

Rioting was resumed today, the casualties up to the present being, two killed and five wounded.

Scrap Old Ships Urges Conference

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 23.—Fourteen Maritime Nations were represented at the inaugural meeting in London today of the International Shipping Conference. Sir Owen Philipps, presiding, declared that the shipping situation had now made inevitable practical cooperation of shipowners in all parts of the world.

He instanced the fact that there was a superabundance of vessels exceeding the needs of the world for several years and advocated that older ships and new inferior vessels should be broken up.

He declared that if the countries represented at the conference were to abolish half their artificial restrictions, a greater number of steamers would be employed.

Dismiss Govr. Is Porto Ricans' Plea

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 23.—Felix Davila, the Porto Rican commissioner, today received a cablegram from 36 out of the 58 members of the Porto Rican assembly directing him to request President Harding to remove Governor Monte Reily immediately.

The cablegram declared that Governor Reily came to Porto Rico with deep-seated prejudices and asserted that he had attacked Porto Rican institutions.

Mrs. Gordon-West's Opinion of "Kirby's Sea-Sick Cure"

Park Lane,
February 4, 1912.

Messrs. COLLINS & ROSS,
154 Bermondsey St., London.

DEAR SIRS,

Until my last voyage to New York I dreaded sea travelling. Hitherto I had been so susceptible to sea-sickness that I could not leave my bed during the whole of the voyage. Even when travelling by train I have been obliged to lie down.

Before leaving for New York, I was persuaded to take "KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE" and was surprised to find that I not only avoided sea-sickness, but was entirely free from nausea of any kind. We had very rough seas during the greater part of the voyage, but I took all my meals in the saloon, and never felt better.

I shall never travel without the cure in future. You should make the remedy widely known, for it will be a boon to thousands.

Yours gratefully,
(Signed) MARY GORDON-WEST.

INFANTRY BEAT U.S. MARINES IN GAME AT TIENTSIN

(Special To The China Press)

Tientsin, Nov. 24.—In a fast game today the U.S. Infantry football team defeated the U.S. Marines 19 to 7.

Hutchinson at quarter, Rattan at right half, Fox at left half and Bates at tackle starred for the soldiers. Nelms, of the Marines, playing right halfback was easily the star of the game.

The Army outplayed the Marines, who nevertheless put up a game fight. The Army scored in the first, second and fourth quarters and the Marines pushed their touchdown over and kicked goal in the third.

The Army contingent outweighed the naval forces. Only four forward passes were attempted during the game and two of these were fumbled. The old mass formation and smashing at the line were the tactics principally employed.

In spite of a bitter cold north wind a crowd of 4,000 saw the contest. The Army touchdowns were made by Rattan, Bruce and Fox, while Nelms notched the Marines' solitary count. The game was high class throughout and the two forward passes made, particularly one accepted by Nelms, were shining features.

Indian Prince Engages Americans For Racing Stable

Paris, Oct. 10.—William Duke and Guy Garner, American trainer and jockey, respectively, for the stable which the Aga Khan, an Indian Prince, is getting together for 1922, will receive the largest salaries ever paid on the French turf.

Duke, formerly trainer for the W. K. Vanderbilt string, is said to have signed a contract with the Prince calling for a guarantee of 500,000 francs, with a percenage of 20 percent of the stake winnings. Garner's retainer is made up in dollars and is said to top the amount paid by Vanderbilt to Frankie O'Neil, St. Louis, who up to this year was reputed to be the highest paid jockey on the continent.

S. V. C. Notes

The Commandant has often explained his views on the desirability of unit camps to individual units when actually in camp but for the benefit of others wishes to emphasise the following points. The practice hitherto followed by some units of doing little but musketry training during a camp is wrong. Musketry can easily be carried out without a camp at all. On the other hand, the most valuable use of a camp is for training in other respects than actual shooting.

In order to be efficient for any military operation, a unit must be able to apply its organisation to the problem in hand—in other words, the infantry company, for instance, must be able to work by platoons and sections. Drill is of course of the highest importance but even more necessary is the ability of the subordinate commanders to know and command their men, and to do the right thing when the time comes. Further, the men themselves require to know their leaders and to be accustomed to be led by them. The presence of all members of a unit in camp gives exceptional opportunities for training in this sense.

There are plenty of things to be taught, perhaps the most important of all being the combined action of the various sections and platoons in the attack, including many things, use of diamond formation, making use of ground, rapid deployment from small columns and vice versa, co-operation of rifle and Lewis gun sections, etc.

There is no more interesting or excellent book ever written than the British "Notes on Platoon Training," of which a large number of copies has been issued. It is worth study. Then again, guard duties are a very valuable method of instruction, particularly for young N.C.O's who have, when in charge of guards, the opportunity of attaining self-confidence in command.

In the future, attendance at an annual unit camp will loom large in the competition for the Efficiency Shield, but the misappropriation of the valuable time available during camps for musketry will heavily penalise a unit for this competition.

ARTILLERY BATTERY

The scores made at the annual rifle meeting of the battery, which was held last week, have just been made available. Owing to the transition from the long rifle to the carbine, and more recently from the carbine to the short rifle, the old standard of shooting set by the battery has deteriorated. That is by the way, however, and is no excuse for the series of low scores returned by some of the members. The battery is not the only unit that fails to insist on its recruits attending the lectures and demonstrations given at Headquarters by Sergt.-Major Leighton, attendance at which, it need hardly be said, enables an unpractised shot to learn far more than by shooting off his allotment of rounds at the Rifle Range by rule of thumb.

Riding is naturally more popular in a mounted unit, and some excellent work is being done in this direction under Sergt.-Major Kemp at the Gordon Road School. The School has been greatly improved since it was rebuilt and now boasts a tan outer track and a sawdust center. A more finished standard of horsemanship is apparent, with its attendant good results on the behaviour of the teams. There is no better exercise than an hour's riding daily, and with the facilities the battery offers full use should be made of the opportunity which Lieut. Hay, who is in charge of the stables, offers.

A mounted drill is called for tonight at 5:45 at which as many as possible should parade in fatigue order for riding and driving Officers and No. 1 only will attend in plain clothes for the monthly meeting which will be held at the Drill Hall.

On Sunday morning there will be a battery ride starting from the stables at 9:30 prompt. Fatigue order with field service caps.

A Coffee Discovery

According to an Arabian legend, Hadji Omar, a pious Dervish, was outlawed from Mocha in the year 1285. When almost dying of hunger in the wilderness, he roasted some of the small round berries he found growing wild in the thickets. A few of the roasted berries accidentally fell into his drinking water, and thus coffee was discovered.

SHANGHAI LIGHT FOOTBALL XI WINS FROM S'HAI AM'N SCHOOL BY SCORE OF 18-3

Heavy Shanghai Line Gives The Win; Waters Saves A Shutout By Drop-kick

Herbert Waters' drop kick from the 30-yard line in the last period of yesterday's American football match between the American School and the Shanghai light XI saved the younger lighter eleven from a scoreless defeat. Shanghai scored a touchdown in each of the first three periods, for a score of 18—3. The school boys however were getting stronger in every period and at the final whistle were tearing through Shanghai at will.

The game was fast and clean and well played. A good crowd of football enthusiasts watched from the side lines. There were no injuries, and no substitutions. The School played the lineup advertised yesterday while Shanghai at game time were able to play a team even lighter than was counted on yesterday.

Smith scored a touchdown in the first quarter, by a series on line plunging. Hick Hewitt counted one more for Shanghai in the second period on a 30-yard end run through a broken field. He tallied again in the third period with a 20-yard run through the School. The playing of Smith and Hewitt was easily the feature of the game. For the School Waters, Chase, Squires and Parker starred.

Poor judgment on the part of the schoolboy quarterback, slow starting by the younger backfield and fumbling gave the Shanghai eleven the game. Once the lad who directed the schoolboys from the quarterback position called for a forward pass within his 20 yard line. Twice the school lost the ball on downs in their own territory.

Straight football gave the civilians the first touchdown, while Hewitt's broken field running in the second and third periods helped bring the others.

In the last quarter the schoolboys far outshone their opponents in all departments of the game, tearing holes through the line and working every sort of play almost at will.

The elevens played as follows:

School: Parker RE, Kees RT, Lawton IG, Henry Waters C, Fisher LG, McGinnis LT, McDaniels LE, Brewster QB, Squires RMB, Herb Waters FB, Chase LHB.

Shanghai: Burke RE, Connolly RT, Stovall IG, Dunn C, Whiteman LG, Posner LT, Bud Hewitt LE, Neal QB, Maloney RHB, Smith FB, Hick Hewitt LHB.

Time four 10 minute periods.

Referee: Hirsch. Umpire: Mal Maloney. Head Linesman: Gallop.

Col. T. L. Huston, part owner of the New York Yankees, arrived here last night from Scranton, Pa., where he had a conference with the King of Swat and announced that Ruth had agreed to quit playing ball for the winter.

Huston stated that he will seek to have Judge Landis, baseball commissioner impose but a light fine on Ruth for his infraction of the baseball rules.

Rickard Fails To Sign Dempsey For Bout With Willard

Tex Richard, New York promoter, returned home after a couple of conferences with Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and failed to obtain the signature of the champion for a contest with Willard.

LEVERHULME AND ORPEN DISPUTING SIZE OF PORTRAIT

Baron Wanted Full Length Picture and Supposed That Implied Standing

HE WAS PAINTED SITTING

Correspondence With Artist Reveals Different Points Of View

London, Oct. 14.—Certain rather gossipy persons are telling this story:

A Lancashire man walked into a picture dealer's shop not far from Piccadilly the other day to ask the price of a water color. The manager of the shop (the proprietor was not there) promptly measured the picture with a foot rule and made a calculation.

SOLD BY MEASURE

"Goodness," the Lancashire man asked, "what has the foot rule to do with it?"

The manager answered: "In the trade a picture by So and So is valued at half a guinea a square inch, and that is how I have calculated the price."

This, apropos of a new controversy in which Lord Leverhulme is concerned about a portrait of him. This time the argument is not with Augustus John—that is another and an old story—but with Sir William Orpen. Lord Leverhulme—or, to give his title more impressively, Baron Leverhulme of Bolton-le-Moors, in the County Palatine of Lancaster, who has done much to place the peoples of the earth next to godliness—was Mayor of Bolton in 1918-1919. He desired to have painted his portrait to be hung in the Town Hall of Bolton along with portraits of other former Mayors of the borough, and Sir William Orpen painted it.

The portrait depicts Lord Leverhulme seated in an easy attitude in an armchair, with his left hand resting on an arm of the chair and his right hand on his knee. He is wearing the scarlet, sable trimmed mayoral robe and the mayoral chain; the body is half turned to the artist, but the full face is represented. The Town Clerk of Bolton is quoted as having called the portrait "a speaking likeness."

The first public account of the difference in opinion between Lord Leverhulme and Sir William was to the effect that the former Mayor of Bolton desired that his portrait should be a full length one, standing. Sir William suggested that a much finer effect would be obtained if he depicted Lord Leverhulme sitting. The artist's idea was carried out and the finished work was sent to Bolton. Only then, according to the report, did any difficulty arise as to the price of the portrait. Lord Leverhulme, it is said, argued that he arranged for a full length portrait, at a certain figure. Because he had been painted sitting he maintained that it was but the equivalent of a half-length portrait, and therefore, it should be paid for accordingly at half that figure.

But Lord Leverhulme issued a statement which, so to speak, puts another face on the picture. "My Lord" says in his statement:

"I feel that Sir William Orpen must be under a misapprehension on the whole matter, and especially have forgotten the arrangement he himself suggested in his last letter to myself as to the price. It was in this way that the matter arose:

"When I decided to have my portrait painted in 1919 I wrote to my friend, Sir David Murray, and he recommended me to Sir William Orpen. I then wrote to Sir William in July, 1919, and this was his relpy:

. . . My prices are as follows: Head and shoulders, £1,000; half or three-quarter length, £1,500; full length, £2,000.

"At this time Sir William was away in France, and so he did not give me any sittings until the spring of 1921. I informed Sir William Orpen that I would prefer a full-length portrait but he said that a sitting down portrait would be better. Nothing was said as to whether the sitting down portrait would be considered a full length or three-quarter length, but my impression was that it would be considered a three-quarter length. On Sept. 2 Sir William Orpen wrote to my secretary stating that the portrait would be 2,000 guineas. On my secretary showing me this letter I wrote to Sir William on Sept. 6 as follows:

Dear Sir William: My secretary has brought me in your letter of Sept. 2 relating to the price of the picture. You will remember in your letter to myself you quote three prices for three different sizes—full length, 2,000 guineas; three-quarter length, 1,500 guineas.

"Here Lord Leverhulme pointed out that he should have written "pounds," not "guineas," as Sir William in his letter of July, 1919, quoted in terms of pounds. Lord Leverhulme's letter continued:

"You will remember when I presented myself to be painted I said I preferred full length standing up, rather than one sitting down. The latter I expected to be three-quarter length. A full length is, of course, a recognised size and much bigger than the portrait of myself. I am very sorry that there is any misunderstanding. I had preferred a full length for 2,000 guineas, but I understood you preferred it to be a three-quarter length sitting down. I am sending a check for the frame, etc., direct to the maker.

"Hoping you are in the best of health, and looking forward to the pleasure of seeing you when next you come to London."

WHAT ORPEN SAYS

"To this letter," says Lord Leverhulme, "Sir William Orpen replied on Sept. 5, in which he stated: 'Your canvas must, be about 85-inch by 55-inch,' so that it is evident that Sir William is under a misapprehension in this respect.

Sir William Orpen's letter of Sept. 5 continued:

"However, I leave the matter entirely to Your Lordship. If after due consideration, you still are of the opinion that you are satisfied in considering the picture a half or three-quarter length, and wish to pay for it as such, let it be so."

"My reply to this letter," said Lord Leverhulme, "was as follows:

"'I am obliged for yours of the 7th. I very much regret this misunderstanding has arisen, would you like to put the matter to be decided by Sir David Murray! It was Sir David Murray who introduced me to yourself. If you decide on this course then I suggest we each put our views down in writing for Sir David Murray to decide, and I will agree to act upon his decision. But if you would prefer to settle the matter between ourselves entirely, I would be pleased to send you a cheque for 1,500 guineas, and so end the matter. In any case, whatever may come or go, I hope we shall always be good friends, and that this little misunderstanding will not in any way sully our friendship.'"

Lord Leverhulme states that to this letter Sir William Orpen has sent him no reply, and that he is surprised that the matter should develop in the way it has. Lord Leverhulme says he thought it had all been satisfactorily arranged.

Russian Light Opera

Playing to a large appreciative audience, the Russian Light Opera Company opened its local season last night at the Apollo Theater with Legar's "The Count of Luxemburg."

The story of this popular light opera is familiar to most local playgoers, so only the personnel of the cast needs comment. The part of the Count was played in able style by Mr. H. Bravin, while Miss Soorikoff sang the role of "Angela." Miss Soorikoff has a splendid voice and an excellent stage manner and her efforts, especially in the first act, were very pleasing. In the comedy part of "Prince Georgievitch," Mr. Goreff was very much alive to the possibilities of the part and the other principals and the large supporting cast lent every aid toward the successful presentation. The duet number in the second act, by Miss Koraloff and Mr. Radoff, was an outstanding feature.

The orchestra played excellently and in itself received a good measure of the applause rendered the company. Tonight "The Dollar Princess" is to be given.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 24.—Italy's desire to participate in the Chinese Consortium was revealed at an interview with Signor Albertini, one of the Italian delegates to the Conference, and Signor Ricci, the Italian Ambassador.

Signor Albertini argued that Italian participation might remove some of China's objections to the plan as a whole. He added that the subject had not yet been considered in any formal way by the Conference.

Thwarts Bandits Planning To Rob Car On Pukow Line

At attempt by 400 brigands to rob the money car of a South bound Tientsin-Pukow express train was thwarted by the station master at Hanchang, Chihli Province, on Monday according to the Chinese press.

The bandits had made plans to rob the car as it passed through Hanchang, but the station master discovered the plot and telegraphed to the station master several stations on. The money was removed from the car and placed under guard in the station and the train passed through Hanchang at double speed.

Night operations in the Kiangwan district were carried out after dinner on Friday. Saturday forenoon was given up to Guard Mounting, Lewis Gun instruction and Company Drill, while the afternoon was devoted to barbed wiring work and Company Drill. Saturday night was Guest Night, the dinner being followed by a very enjoyable smoking concert.

An attack and defense scheme was carried out between the Rifle Range and the Point on Sunday forenoon. The camp was open to visitors from 3:30 p.m. and Colonel Marr-Johnson presented the prizes won at recent unit meeting after tea. Camp broke up at 9:30 p.m. Sufficient interest was evinced in the camp to warrant its being made an annual affair.

The next weekly drill will take place on Tuesday, 28th inst. at the Drill Hall at 9 p.m. Dress:—Drill order with caps.

At present there is no stock of winter uniform material at Headquarters but it is expected that the same will be forthcoming shortly. Those men who are not yet in possession of winter uniform may attend parades in summer uniform.

CHILDREN DYING BY THOUSANDS IN FAMINE DISTRICTS

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Nov. 18.—The commission for the protection of children lately made a report to the American Relief Committee on the condition of the children in the Volga region as follows:

The means of feeding the children in the public homes is very scanty. The death-rate is high. Homes are overcrowded and cannot accept all the needy children. The help so far carried out is insufficient. In the Shuvash district there are 300,000 children and 7,000 infants suffering from hunger. In the province of Viatka and in the territory of Mary over half a million children are starving.

In the Tartar Republic the number is 750,000 and in the province of Ufa over half a million. Deserted children, 150 of them, were picked up in the streets of Ufa today. The distress is still greater in the province of Samara, where epidemics are raging. In the province of Simbirsk there are nearly 800,000 hungry children.

In each of these provinces a relief base will be opened by the Commission for the Protection of Children, and in each relief base a representative of the American Relief Committeee will work.

The Commissariat for Nationalities possesses the following data about the Volga Germans: The area is about 13,200 square versts. The inhabitants number 450,000, including 109,000 under 8 years of age, 112,000 children of school age, 96 percent of the population being German.

In this district there are 335 schools of the first grade with 433 teachers, and 26 schools of the second grade with 91 teachers. The number of pupils is 69,000. Besides, there are 49 kindergartens with 2,000 children.

At present 73,000 children under 8 years of age, 68,000 children from 8 to 15, and 150,000 adults are in extreme distress. Since January 49,000 persons have died of hunger.

"SAFE AND EFFICIENT."

Dr. Milton Hersey's Report On Baby's Own Tablets.

That there are no injurious drugs or opiates in Baby's Own Tablets is proved by the certificate of Dr. Milton Hersey, Official Analyst to the cities of Quebec, and Montreal, of which the following is a copy:—

"I hereby certify that I have made a careful chemical analysis of Baby's Own Tablets.

My analysis has proved that the Tablets contain absolutely no opiate or narcotic.

They can be given with perfect safety to the youngest infant.

They are a safe and efficient medicine for the troubles they are indicated to relieve and cure."

(Signed) Milton L. Hersey, M. A., Sc.

No other medicine is of such aid to mothers for their little ones as is Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. These pleasant-tasting little Tablets gently regulate the stomach and bowels, and are a remedy for simple fever, indigestion, colic, constipation, diarrhoea and worms. They make teething easy, promote healthy appetite, restful sleep and regular development.

SHANGHAI YOUTH WINS HIGH HONOR AT PRINCETON

The following account of honors conferred on a Shanghai boy, Charles J. Woodbridge, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Woodbridge, 176 North Szechuen Road, is contained in the Daily Princetonian, students' newspaper of Princeton University:

This year the William Lyman Biddle Scholarships have been awarded to Oscar Swenson 1922, and Charles J. Woodbridge 1923. These prizes bring the largest financial return of any of the established scholarships of the University.

QUALIFICATIONS

Swenson, who is a student in the Civil Engineering Department, is a resident of Arlington, N. J., and graduated from Kearney High School in that city. Since he entered Princeton in the fall of 1918, he has maintained a general first group standing. The other winner of the Biddle prize, Woodbridge, was born in Shanghai, China, and attended Mt. Hermon School, Northfield, Mass., before entering this University. During his two years of college, Woodbridge has stood among the first in his class, having held a first group average for every term. Besides his scholastic achievements, he has taken an active part in athletics and is a member of the University soccer eleven.

Although these scholarships were given anonymously, they were founded in memory of William Lyman Biddle '74. Their principal is approximately $40,000, the income of which is awarded annually to one member of the Junior and Senior Classes. Under the conditions of the awards, the winners must, during their first two years of college, support themselves at least practically by their own exertions. Besides this qualification, those men eligible for the scholarships, must have good scholastic standing, a good moral character and a foundness for manly outdoor sports.

Full Text Of China's Demands

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 21.—The text of China's proposals as submitted to the Pacific Conference is as follows:

"In conformity with the agenda of the Conference, the Chinese Government proposes for the consideration of and adoption by the Conference the following general principles to be applied in the determination of questions relating to China:

1. (A) The Powers engage to respect and observe the territorial integrity and the political and administrative independence of the Chinese Republic.

(B) China upon her part is prepared to give an undertaking not to alienate or to lease any portion of her territory or littoral to any Powers.

2. China, being in full accord with the principle of the so-called open door, or equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all Nations having treaty relations with China, is prepared to accept and apply it in all parts of the Chinese Republic without exception.

3. With a view to strengthening mutual confidence in the Far East, the Powers agree not to conclude between themselves any treaty or agreement directly affecting China or the general peace in these regions without previously notifying China and giving her an opportunity to participate.

4. All special rights, privileges, immunities or commitments, whatever their character or contractual basis, claimed by any of the Powers in or relating to China, are to be declared, and all such or future claims not so made known, are to be deemed null and void. Rights, privileges, immunities and commitments now known or to be declared, are to be examined with a view to determining their scope and validity, and if valid, to harmonizing them with one another and with the principles declared by this Conference.

5. Immediately or as soon as the circumstances will permit, the existing limitations upon China's political, jurisdictional and administrative freedom of action are to be removed.

6. Reasonable definite terms of duration are to be attached to China's commitments which are without time-limit.

7. In the interpretation of instruments granting special rights or privileges, the well established principle of construction that such grants shall be strictly construed in favor of the grantors is to be observed.

8. China's rights as a neutral are to be fully respected in future wars to which she is not party.

9. Provision is to be made for the peaceful settlement of international disputes in the Pacific and the Far East.

10. Provision is to be made for future conferences to be held from time to time for the discussion of international qestions relative to the Pacific and the Far East as a basis for the determination of the common policies of signatory Powers in relation thereto.

Shanghai College Of Commerce Notes

Mr. Julean Arnold, commercial attache to the American Legation in Peking, gave an address before the faculty and students on the 21st. He presented a striking survey, as a result of his extensive travels and investigations in China, of the economic and industrial conditions of the country. He pointed out the need of more railways, of safeguarding and opening up of coal and iron mines and of organised effort for the improvement and marketing of agricultural products, especially tea and silk. The stimulating talk was concluded with an appeal for students' spirit and organisation and a motto, after that of the American Rotary Club, "He profits most who serves most."

The Bureau of Economic Investigation and Publications of the College has decided upon a scheme of publishing a monthly economic journal, materials of which will be furnished by members of the faculty, students and contributors from outside. The issue of special bulletins on important subjects is also planned by the Bureau.

Under the auspices of the Students' Council, several societies have recently been organised, including an English Literary Club, a Society for Economic Enquiry and a Music Club.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 24, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each up 1-2d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 68¼ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 399⅞.

The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Rupee rate which was raised to 281¼, the India-London cross rate having dropped to 1-3⅞.

In spite of the rise in silver in London yesterday, our market here today was on the easy side with more buyers than sellers.

Business in Sterling was done at 3-9⅝ for November delivery and at between 3-9 and 3:9⅛ for December.

Gold Dollars were done at 76¼ for November and 75 for December.

However, at the close, there were buyers of Sterling at 3s. 9⅝d. for November and 3s. 9d. for December, and buyers of Gold Dollars at 76 for November and 75 for December.

China and America bought silver in London yesterday and the market there is reported as being steady.

New York however quotes their market as sellers, no buyers.

The general tone of the silver market throughout the world at present therefore seems to be on the easy side.

This will hang in the tea-room at Headquarters.

The following ladies have agreed to form the Committee and to act as stallholders in connection with the forthcoming Christmas Fair to be held at the Town Hall on Tuesday, December 20. The Shanghai Scottish extend an invitation to members of the B.W.A. to attend the Gymkhana at the Rifle Range on Sunday afternoon next, November 27, at 3 p.m. A ladies' shooting competition, for which there will be prizes, is to form a feature of the afternoon. It is hoped that members interested will avail themselves of this rare opportunity of rifle shooting.

NEEDLECRAFT SECTION

A suggestion has been received from members that a Needlecraft Section should forthwith be formed, that a "Sale Cupboard" should be arranged at H. Q. with a view to an annual sale of work, and that a "Charity Cupboard" be also established. It is proposed that meetings could be held either at H. Q. or in different parts of the Settlement. Members interested in these admirable suggestions should communicate with the secretary at 9 Kiukiang Road. Twenty names of intending members are necessary in order to inaugurate a Section.

TEA ROOMS

Arrangements for tea at Headquarters are now under the personal supervision and management of a foreign lady and vast improvement in this respect will be found to have been effected. Members wishing to give tea-parties, with special cakes, etc., are asked to notify the secretary the day beforehand.

Alas! What Cheer Is Sickness Now? No Wine, No Beer!

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Senate has adopted the conference report on the bill outlawing beer and wine for medicinal purposes and ending their use entirely in the United States. The bill will become law as soon as President Harding signs it. The respite promised as a result of the recent regulations promulgated by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon thereby meets a quick death.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Harding has signed the Anti-Medical Beer Bill which is designed to facilitate the strict enforcement of Prohibition.

Arbuckle Defense Outlines Course

(Special To The China Press)

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—The prosecution today closed its case against Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, moving picture comedian, charged with the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe, moving picture star, during an alleged wild party in the St. Francis Hotel.

The defense for Arbuckle opened by making the statement that it could prove that Arbuckle was not in the hotel with Miss Rappe more than ten minutes, and contending that it was impossible for the events alleged by the prosecution to have occurred in that length of time.

Philatelic Society Elects Officers For Coming Year

Smallbones, Siddall, Diercking, Divers, Lee Faitong and Lemiere were elected members of the Committee for the year 1921-1922. Accounts were approved and showed the good standing of the Society.

At a meeting of the members of the Committee of the Society, the following officers were duly appointed: Mr. Smallbones, chairman and treasurer; Mr. Diercking, secretary for the exchange of packets; Mr. Lemiere, secretary.

ANGLO-AFGHAN TREATY

(Reuter's Service)

Delhi, Nov. 23.—A satisfactory Anglo-Afghan treaty has been signed at Kabul.

Rice Men Protest Against Exchange

Rice dealers of Shanghai held a meeting Wednesday night to protest against the opening of a proposed grain exchange in an alley off Rue du Consulat, according to the Chinese press.

The dealers declare that the exchange will cause an increase in rice costs.

Rice advanced 30 cents a picul during the past few days and is now selling at $10.10.

A number of firms grant an increase of $1 a month for rice money when the cereal goes over $10 so the poorer classes are not hit very badly as yet.

The Taiping district of Kiangyin Hsien, this side of Chinkiang, is still under three to four feet of water according to reports received by the Chinese press. The rice crop this year is a total failure, and the homeless sufferers are compelled to eat a mixture of potatoes and hay to keep alive. With winter coming on their plight is said to be extremely pitiful.

SOCIALISTS WIN ELECTION

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 23.—The result of the elections at Brussels to the Chamber which were officially announced at midday today, are as follows:

Liberals 6: Catholics 7: Socialists 8: Fikemish Catholics 3: Combatant 1.

There will then be in the new Chamber 34 Liberals, 65 or 66 Socialists and 78 or 79 members belonging to the different Catholic groups, 5 Flemish activists and 1 Independent.—

Succoring Russia

By Francisco Nitti

(Former Premier of Italy)

THE whole world has been moved by the desperate appeal addressed by Bolshevist Russia to Europe and America. Moscow no longer threatens to impose its sinister systems which, both of violence, have resulted in famine and ruin; Moscow begs for help, for bread, food, medicines, clothing. Millions of men, women and children are in the throes of the direst hunger and in imminent danger of death.

It is necessary, as far as possible, to help Russia; when human suffering assumes such tragic shapes, political distinctions and social prejudices disappear. Our differences cease before the grandeur of suffering and the majesty of death.

The help in foodstuffs which continental Europe is in a position to render must naturally be very limited, for Europe too is in terrible difficulties, as a result of the war and also in consequence of this so-called peace which, in proclaiming the rights of victory, has sanctioned every violence and deeply disorganised society. But all who are able to do so will help willingly, and also those nations which are themselves suffering will contribute something to the common fund.

Russia's desperate appeal contains the implicit admission that the Communist regime has brought about in a few short years more ruin and misery than century-long oppression. It proves, if any proof were still necessary, that the Communist form of production is not only harmful but not lasting. Economists say that it is fundamentally absurd; but given the collective folly from which some nations are suffering, nothing is absurd except the hope of their speedy recovery.

If there was a country open to a Communist experiment, that country was Russia. Imperial Russia represented the vastest continuous territory ever occupied by one State. Twenty-two millions of square kilometers, about eighty-four times the size of Italy, almost three times the size of the United States, were occupied by a population accustomed to the most abject slavery. Under the regime of the Czar a handful of men lorded it despotically over more than 180,000,000 men spread over an immense territory. All obeyed most submissively.

Centralisation had been brought to such a degree and obedience to the central power was so great, that no hostile manifestation was lastingly tolerated. The Communist regime was therefore able to count not only on the apathy of the Russian people, but also on its blind obedience. Besides this fundamental condition of success for a government which was to regulate production despotically, there was another not less important. Russia is the only country in the world which, like the United States, China and Brazil (the four largest countries on the earth, without taking into consideration the British dominions which are too scantily populated), possesses in its own territory everything which is necessary for existence. Nay, given a country on the basis of an isolated economy, namely, living exclusively on its own resources without trading with any other country, Russia has the possibility of realising the most prosperous and comfortable conditions of existence.

Her territory contains everything—cereals, textile fibres, combustibles of all kinds, metals. Russia is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, reserve of the world. In spite of this privileged condition the Communist organisation has succeeded in stopping every form of production.

Russia, who was first able to give lavishly to all, is herself dying of hunger; Russia, who could provide Europe with coal and mineral oil, cannot keep her railways going; Russia, who had abundance of hemp and cotton in the Caucasus, is unable to clothe her soldiers and the employes of the Bolshevist State. The stimulus of personal interest having ceased, few care to work. The peasants alone continue to produce barely enough for the maintenance of their own families, while the city workers waste their time in endless talk and political meetings.

Everybody wishes to live at the expense of the State, and production, autocratically organised, dries up and withers from day to day.

If we read the collection of laws issued by the Bolshevist Government, we find many institutions which appear not only reasonable but full of interest. Many laws of the autocratic governments of past regimes likewise appear animated by an intelligent and noble spirit. But laws do not contain in themselves any creative power; they regulate human relations but are powerless to create them. They can deprive some one of wealth and give it to others, but they cannot create wealth.

When personal interest is eliminated, work, which is labor and suffering, gradually slows down and ceases to produce. Even shorter hours, in which all attempt at efficiency is avoided, at last culminate in the incapacity for any effort and in the complete stoppage of work.

The ancient, fundamental truth lies in the fact that in all Aryan languages the words indicating labor have the same root as those which mean pain. The great majority of men only work because compelled by necessity or in their own interest; after the elementary needs of existence have been met, self-interest is the only stimulus to the acquisition of wealth. In fact, in most Aryan languages the word wealth is synonymous with dominion and power.

The Russian experiment has been extremely useful to the whole of Europe and America. The Red International of Moscow has revealed itself in its true color of "the International of Famine and Death." Communism has proved its incapacity to guarantee, in practice, even that minimum of production which might suffice for an inferior race.

If a whirlwind of madness, coming from Russia, at one time threatened to submerge the world, Russia herself no longer menaces but begs for help and pity and has made the very confession which we expected from her. The frank admission of her ruin cannot, of course, be expected to come from her fanatics and from the violent upholders of Communism, but that recognition comes from facts and has no need of further confirmation.

But what is now happening in Russia must not induce the Western States to repeat the errors which they committed during and after the war.

A long time must necessarily elapse before the Russian people slowly resumes its international life and even more slowly its way to progress, but to begin with, it must choose a different road.

The peasants, who form the vast majority of the population, look back with terror to the ancient regime. They have taken possession of the land and mean to hold it against all comers; they cannot for a moment think of permitting the return of the great Russian land-owners, whose estates were as large as provinces and who often did not themselves know the full extent of their possessions.

One of the causes which has rendered it possible for Bolshevism to keep on its legs so long has been the attitude of the Entente, which has always shown the greatest sympathy for the men of the ancient regime. The Czar of Russia was an insignificant man, and his court and government mainly composed of unscrupulous, thieving, drunken and violent men. Who can wish for a return of those conditions?

All the men of the ancient regime, from Kolchak to Denikin and Wrangel, have received from the Entente, and especially from France, arms and financial help. The Russian people never had any sympathy with those enterprises, and often openly opposed them. I have had occasion to speak with the representatives of the new States, especially of the Caucasian States, in Paris and London, during the sittings of the conference. They all agreed in saying that the action of the men of the old regime and especially that of Denikin, had for its object the suppression of the independent States and a return to the previous form of government.

It is certainly not an easy matter to talk about Russia where no free press any longer exists and where all the people can do is to try to keep themselves from dying from starvation. But the Western States must find some means of making it quite clear that in no case do they wish to reinstate the ancient regime, that they are ready to recognise all Federal forms of government and that they have no power to prevent or in any way to retard the transfer of the land to the peasants.

They must also explain that their full recognition of the de facto Governmenet or Governments of Russia is only subordinate to the respect of international laws and not to the admission of indebtedness towards certain States of Europe. To put it briefly, the States of democracy must once and for all give up assuming the outer aspect of a Bayard, while having the soul of a Shylock.

The Communist illusion throughout the world burst like a bubble when the Government of the Soviets sent out its S.O.S. appeal for the starving millions of Russia. But the mission of succor and help should be also the beginning of a reconstructive work. We are not in a position to give Russia all the things of which she is in need. But we can give her the assurance that we do not intend to help in the restoration of the ancient regime and that we honestly wish to co-operate towards the resurrection of the Russian people.

WOMEN'S SECRETS

"There's scarcely a woman in existence who can visit the hairdresser's and avoid telling the whole story of her life to the assistant who is giving her a shampoo and hair wave. Even a simple cut and singe often induces the most reticent woman to yield up the carefully guarded secrets of a lifetime.

"Every woman knows that she can find it in her heart to forgive a man for many sins—she might condone larceny, think lightly of arson, or even excuse murder; but she will not extend even a death-bed pardon to a male who waves his hair by artificial means."—Educating Ernestine, by Florence A. "AMOR VINCIT"

Edwin and Angela had loved one another for years. But, alas, the course of true love lived up to its traditions, and proved an extremely bumpy one. Chill penury had always stood between them, and they had never been able to afford the joys of matrimony. Once, in 1914, they had almost risked putting up the banns, but then the war-cloud had burst, and Edwin found himself in khaki on a shilling a day, with married bliss more remote than ever.

After the Armistice he had returned to his former employment at a reduced salary. His patriotic employer regetted the reduction, but pointed out that the high cost of living (apparently he meant his own), and Edwin's loss of experience, consequent upon his long absence, rendered this an unavoidable necessity. Edwin, too, regretted the reduction, but he was not in a position to haggle over the terms. So he closed with the offer, and he and Angela resigned themselves once more to the vagaries of a relentless fate.

The other evening, however, Edwin left the office with a lightsome step. His whole demeanor was expressive of triumph as he sped to Angela's home, and, bursting into the room where she was sitting, clasped her in his manly arms.

"My darling!" he cried, in ecstasy, "all our troubles are over. We can get married at once."

"Oh, Edwin," murmured Angela from the depths of his waistcoat, "what has happened? Have you had a rise?"

"Far better than that," he laughed joyously.

"Tell me!" she commanded, playfully straining away from him.

"I'm sacked," he replied, "so now I can draw the unemployment dole."

Conditions In Vladivostok

HORSE STEALING THRIVES

"The chief occupation of the Kappelites is horse stealing. Horses were stolen in broad daylight in order to equip the cavalry draft that was dispatched to the district of the Suchan Mines. Owners of stolen horses who were bold enough to demand the return of their horses, were offered a ridiculously small sum as compensation. This modus operandi is adopted in order to discourage the owners of the horses and so cause them to desist in making further demands. The Japanese occupy the best buildings and military barracks in Vladivostok and the district.

CHITA MEN MURDERED

"The 'elated spirits' which the murder of Mr. Tseitlin immediately produced in the ranks of the Monarchists are now conspicuous by their absence, so that in order to bolster and maintain the martial spirit of the Vladivostok militarists, it will be necessary to continuing murdering representatives—especially Jewish—of the Chita Government. The murdering part of this business is conducted by a certain General Lebediev, who is to be seen frequently in the streets of Vladivostok with a revolver strapped to his waist. The Japanese, who are past masters in the gentle art, have come to the assistance of the Lebediev gang, as birds of a feather flock together. Notwithstanding all these various methods and subterfuges adopted by the Verjibitski, Lebediev and War Lord Nicholai Merkulov as a means to stimulate the 'martial spirit' of the Vladivostok militarists, there nevertheless exists a great deal of dissatisfaction among the various military cliques, especially among the ranks of the older detachments. That is to say those military units which were stationed in Vladivostok and district during the time of the Antonov or so-called Communist Government, are now being openly suspected of conspiring with Chita and naturally are being shunned by the later arrivals—the full Monarchists. The trouble with these militarists is that there exist too many cliques that lack adhesiveness. To crown all that military atmosphere in which Vladivostok is enveloped rumors regarding renewed intervention on the part of the allies are being circulated almost daily.

SPIES EVERYWHERE

"However much the ordinary civilian might strive to steer clear of politics he finds it an absolute impossibility to do so. Almost every second person in Vladivostok belongs to the sundry counter-espionage departments. Each military clique possesses its own espionage system. Unless loyalty is professed or displayed on the part of the civilian towards the existing non-socialistic (Monarchistic) Government the unfortunate individual falls under suspicion of sympathising with Chita.

"In Government departments, including the railroad, every employee is virtually forced to show his hand, so to speak, by denouncing Chita and everything pertaining thereto otherwise he is discharged by his Natchalnik. Arrests and searches are made almost daily.

"The name Nickolai seems to be an ill-fated one as far as Russia is concerned. It evidently possesses some affinity with the name 'old Nick.' Nickolai II was famed for the erection of more prisons during his reign than were built by his predecessors. Nicholai Merkulov seems to consider that there must be something very rotten in the State of Denmark if the Vladivostok prison is not filled to overflowing. Nickolai II possessed only one real enemy to his State, namely—the Social Revolutionist and he found one to be too many for him, but as Shakespeare says: 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown' and this applies very specially to Nickolai Merkulov, who has two real enemies to his Government, namely, the so-called Bolsheviki and Ataman Semenov's followers. Nickolai makes periodical visits to the prison in order to convince himself that the Procuror and the Chief of the Prison are in reality executing his orders.

PRISON KEPT FULL

"Almost every conspicuous personage in Vladivostok including such famous persons as Patieshvilli and Kolesnikov, the lecturer on Russian monarchy and the evils of bolshevism have gone to prison, per Nickolai's instructions, on suspicion of conspiring with Ataman Semenov to overthrew the 'only national Russian government.' What Nickolai Merkulov would do were his authority to be extended to say Irkutsk, which boasts of one of the largest of Russia's prisons, is not difficult to imagine. In short, civil life in Vladivostok consists of rising up in the morning at home and blessing the icon that during the night no search had been made. During the day, in order to display one's patriotism, one purchases the official newspaper and buries one's head in the pages so as to avoid all conversation on any subject whatever.

PRESS IS TIES

"The press in Vladivostok is the worst that Russia has ever witnessed. The Press Bureau, a Government institution, is the most imbecile and mendacious instrument ever organised. There is never a word of truth contained in the communications published by this Bureau. The Government newspaper attached to this Bureau is called the Vetchernaya Gazetta, a one sheet rag which is sold for 10 sen. It is eagerly purchased by confirmed Monarchists, who must be kept 'hypnotised' at all costs with respect to starving Russia, revolts against the Soviets, etc., etc.

"The other newspaper is the Golos Rodini, a weathercock publication whose editors are afraid to publish anything against the Merkulov Government and who dare not publish anything against the Japanese military authorities. This newspaper panders to the Burgeois class of Vladivostok and is thus secured its 4,000 circulation. In substance it resembles the Vetchernaya Gazetta but does not print all the communications of the Press Bureau.

"The Social Revolutionists experienced a hard time during the discussion in the Monarchists' Assembly regarding the freedom of the press. Mr. Mantsvetov was attacked vigorously by the Ministerial Bench who virtually shelled any attempt to institute 'freedom' of the Press. The argument is that order has not yet been established in Vladivostok and consequently similar measures to those adopted in other countries must be enforced. Probably the Consular Corp may yet have an opportunity to shine when it succeeds in instituting order.

"There is another newspaper called the Russki Krai, which seems a contradiction for the simple reason that, as has already been stated above, the Krai or Borderland possesses more visible aspect of being Japanese and not Russian. This newspaper is published by the Kappelites and gathers all its information from the Harbinskaya Jizin so that no further comment is necessary. The most interesting circumstance regarding the press is the action on the part of the workingmen to establish their newspaper. The editorial is prepared and the editor immediately packs his grips and leaves the city knowing that if he stays he will be arrested. Some dozens of workingmen's newspapers have made their appearance in Vladivostok only for one day and each newspaper had a different editor. These newspapers severely criticise both the Japanese and the Merkulov Government. Each time they make their appearance they are immediately confiscated."

VLADIVOSTOK BANKRUPT

"Financially, Vladivostok is bankrupt. This is not to be wondered at. There is absolutely no productiveness either in the town or in the surrounding districts. The peasantry, it is true, possess funds, but the failure of crops this year is causing them to draw on their savings. The peasantry are suspicious of the Merkulov Government and very cautious. All the stocks of goods which served the former governments as the only means of existence are now almost exhausted. There remain only a few commodities representing little or no commercial value. The Merkulov Government has sold everything of value. A few days ago, it became known that the stock of copper had been sold and, on making enquiries, it was found that a certain Japanese firm had offered Merkulov money with which to proceed to Washington. The Merkulov Government has been taxing the people as a means of revenue, but the financial position of the government may be said to be critical.

"A small amount of goods is being imported into Vladivostok, but the Japanese are importing everything without paying Customs duties. Everybody is unanimous in their complaints regarding the financial position. The Consuls have agreed to alleviate conditions by public subscriptions from foreign and other residents and distribute alms to the indigent. This step is being adopted by in order to help bring about law and order so that there will then be no excuse for the Japanese to remain in Vladivostok. One can expect the repetition of the Allies' charity that was so conspicious during the days of Allied intervention.

"Many unscrupulous Russians, pandering to the whims of certain American and Canadian cranks, managed to swindle these Red Cross organisations by displaying anti-Bolshevik sentiments and sold the swag received while needy Russian workingmen and others were turned away on the plea that these charitabie organisations are not for Bolsheviki.

"The workingmen of the Suchan coal mines struck work some time ago, refusing to recognise the Merkulov Government. The strike was due to an endeavor on the part of the Merkulov Government to bring the Mines under its authority. The Kappelites were dispatched to the Mines district in order to maintain order, etc. They were met in the streets by women who jeered at them and shouted to them to go and join their comrades in the hills (sopki).

COALITION RUMORED

"Talk of a coalition government is gaining ground every day. It appears that the two Merkulovs are scarcely on speaking terms. The proposed trip to Washington by Nickolai Merkulov (the Japanese are striving very hard to get Nickolai to go to America) is considered as a subterfuge to get rid off him. During his absence it is proposed to form a coalition government. The names of Bolderiev as War Lord, and Kruglikov as Minister of Interior together with other prominent members of the so-called Progressive Democratic Group are being cited as a possible affiliation. There is no political party whose platform has a specific gravity less than that of the Progressive Democrats permitted to exist in Vladivostok.

"The Yakushev-Moravsk combination is finding life a great deal harder than it did during the time of Antonov or even Rozanov. Moravski is leaving shortly for Paris and the idea of establishing an Autonomous Siberia is the object of his trip. Mr. Mantsvetov was roasted alive by the Monarchists and had to leave Vladivostok, so that the Social Revolutionists can have no quarter there.

"The dream of the Military party is to get the remainder of the Wrangle army over to Vladivostok and thus provide the 'Government' with a lever to curb Chita and dictate terms to Nikiforov and others. Everything is being done at present to hoodwink the Washington Conference and make it agree to the new form of Allied Intervention that the Monarchists are endeavoring to put forward.

Fourfold Is Course In Tsingtao School

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingtao, Nov. 20.—The recently organised Tsingtao Institute, a private school for Chinese and foreign boys, has been opened with many innovations, some of which are not found in many schools. All of these ideas are included in the school's makeup for the purpose of making it a distinctive institution, and the fact that novel conceptions of the school's place in the training of the youth are being employed should make the school an object of interest to parents and teachers alike.

The capacity of the building at present occupied by the school is about thirty boarding pupils, and it is thought best to limit the boarders to that number. With a paid staff of six full-time teachers, and with such a comparatively small student body, intensive training is possible. At the present time, there are no classes which have more than four boys. As a result, each boy gets a greater share of the teacher's time, in fact almost individual attention is given.

OPEN T CHINESE BOYS

Secondly, the school is open to desirable Chinese as well as foreign boys, the administration feeling that the association with worthy boys of other nationalities is important to the youth's full development.

The most important novelty, however, is the introduction into the curriculum of a so-called "four-fold program". This program has been used with effect in American and Canadian Y. M. C. A.'s. and boys' clubs, but as far as the writer has been able to ascertain, it has never come into practice in schools.

The plan is a scoring system in which the boy is graded according to his ability and attainment, one thousand points constituting a perfect score. This one thousand is divided into four parts, 250 points being given for a perfect score in each of the four divisions, mental, physical, moral and social. Then each of these divisions is sub-divided, etc. It is the aim of the institute to give a thorough, all-around training, and the administration feels that the student should be graded on his total improvement. Accordingly, the monthly grade which is sent to parents includes progress made and work completely, physically, morally, and socially as well as mentally.

HAS ELABORATE PROGRAM

The entire program is too comprehensive to be given here, but a sample gives the reader an idea of its merit. The mental division includes the following: 1. School work, 100 points. This mark is based on the monthly average grade, and hence changes every month. The classroom work is not slighted in favor of the outside activities, even though it only counts as one hundred in the thousand points 2. Woodcraft, 30 points. To acquire points under this heading, the boy must pass certain requirements in identifying and having some knowledge of animals, birds, flowers, trees, stars, etc. The other sub-divisions are art, handicrafts, photography collections, observations, speaking, reading, current events, etc.

The physical side includes health knowledge and practice, posture tests, campcraft, team and group games, and certain tests in aquatics, "hiking", athletics, etc. For example, if a boy takes three ten-mile hikes out into the country, he earns ten points. Or if he swims from Green Island to the pier, he gets ten points, etc.

POINTS FOR MORALS

The moral quarter embraces knowledge, conduct, and service. The boy studies nature, music, art, and poetry to discern the underlying Divine presence. Moral conduct as regards self-control, leadership, habits, unselfishness, etc. is closely observed, and the student graded. For a marked moral service, extra points are awarded.

Under the Social, or Service Training heading, the youth is encouraged to regard the "other fellow" unselfishly, and is given training in loyalty, first aid to the injured, citizenship, thrift, etc.

Most of the work is taken outside of school hours in the afternoons, and on Saturdays so that it supplements rather than interferes with the regular classroom studies. However, there is a regular member of the teaching staff in charge of each smallest sub-division. The boys are given the training necessary in order for them to pass the tests, and when they feel they are prepared, they report to the teacher in charge who gives them an examination on the particular subject.

The idea of competition enters strongly and gives an incentive to each student. This is emphassised by posting the scores on a "four-fold program" bulletin board hanging in the school corridor.

The systematic following of the program is intended to bring out the best there is in a boy, and effectuate the desired purpose of citizenship training. The four-fold boy aims to be able to say: "I can do all things well, some things better, one thing best."

TEXACO

TEXACO CRATER COMPOUND

The Great Gear Lubricant

Texaco Crater Compound is a special lubricant for heavy gears and wire rope. It preserves gears; shields them from dust and dirt, prevents friction, and eliminates machinery noise. Use "Crater" on all heavy gears working under conditions of extreme pressure. It clings to gear teeth when nothing else will, but is fluid enough to allow free lubrication.

As a preservative for wire rope and chains, Texaco Crater Compound is invaluable. It forms a film of lubricant which protects from the action of weather, chemical fumes and contaminated water.

Wire rope and chains coated with "Crater" will last twice as long.

Gears lubricated with it will work noiselessly and more efficiently.

COTTON
was introduced into China by Marco Polo six centuries ago, but until twenty-five years ago the industry was not pushed.

It is now however developing rapidly.

For the year ending June 1921 China exported 11,532,162 lbs. of raw cotton to and imported 23,506,195 lbs. from America.

China has in operation 102 cotton mills and 38 under construction.

Her annual production of yarn is about 225,000,000 lbs. and of cloth 55,000,000 yards.

With the proper encouargement the trade has immense possibilities.

Those of our customers in the cotton business have found
